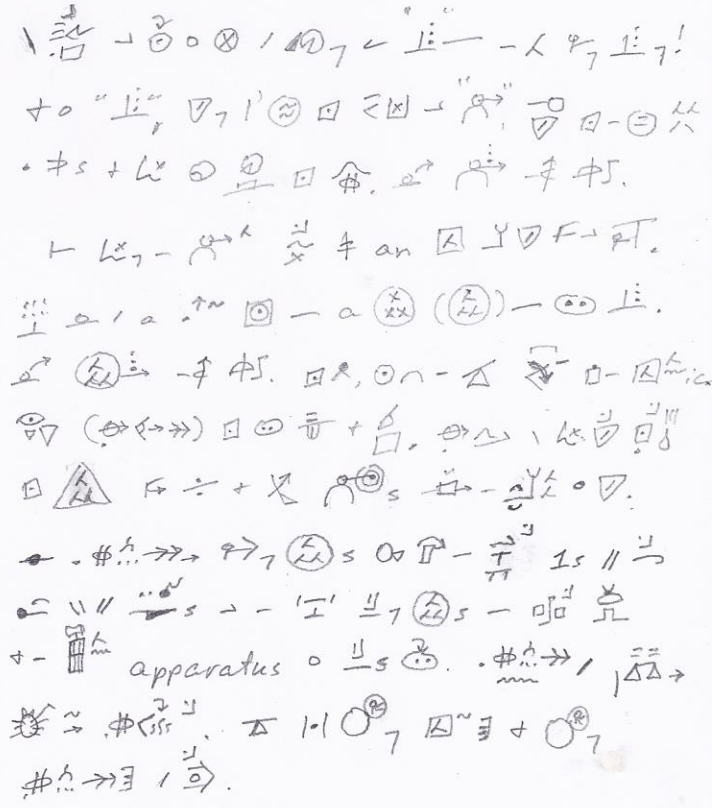
⊥→ ⊥ time indicator

⋮ list (⋮ˣ item) person/inner quality (feel)

ㅅ person group

PLAN

It occurred to me that something is missing from ⊥ – the person doing the planning! And that "plan," being so similar in meaning to "intend" , should be in the same family of ids and have some element in common. Therefore, make sense.* But having the intender represented as an individual can be false-to-fact. Often there's a plural subject – a group: we plan. Therefore makes sense. In general, I dislike the imbalanced over-emphasis of the individualistic perspective in our language and culture. Perhaps it has been instilled in society for divide-and-conquer purposes by the powers that be. No collectively acting groups other than the approved ones are wanted because they are threats to the power of long-ruling groups-- organized religion and the fascist apparatus that rules us. Collectivism is unfairly categorically condemned. Balance between functioning individuality and functioning collectivity is needed.



* make sense, but time will tell if I really like it

A few notes— if anyone wants more detailed info, write to me.

this

occur . Latin dot cur run ob on be (/ is) my newest try for this word.

similar ≈ like same meaning < say < word ⊔ container X thing content element base, basis part therefore there that _ place indicator (here, sense sense (brain on a stick) order (for this sense of "sense") intender. (I use a superscript ˢ or ˣ for "-er".) individual unit person fact T true do done

T is an inverted time indicator, so has sense of being in past (. factum – that which is done)

culture plow . instill [. still drop] ( ) purpose target approve →to, .ad

prove T true show table organize order boxes? by by (position) "clos

→ means religion .ϑ. lig (bind) halo pedestal. apparatus – I have no id for this word and am not interested in making one! -ist ism believe think know function (. fung work ᵏ) need ⇒ must o here a hole or lack, as in ...o possible (unfilled)