

OWN

OWN in sense of "specific to" (self)

He likes to do things in his own way.
 I previously used it. It seems strange that merely orienting it vertically makes a significant difference, but it does. Ids are semantic art - subtle, ineffable, personal.

OWN in sense of rightfully possess.
 is the arm + hand that I so often use.

NOTES: sense. brain on a stick (spinal cord?)

specific general

our previous pre before after post seem think like (in sense of receiving impression)

strange bell curve

a dark location indicator - on outer edge of curve

also strange is from "extraneous" mere only but just

orient direction (EWNS)

vertical horizontal significant I importance signal different

art create beauty

subtle sub under tel web

ineffable in not eff - sari - speak

I had thought that the eff was from Greek ephers speak, but I see this Websters says it is from sari.

I just made this spontaneous improvement to "able" (I do I can). I'll keep it!

orient
 "able"
 (I do I can)