Prioritize

No matter what I'm thinking about, I'm thinking in ids. I do not mean that the flow of my thought is pure ids, but that graphic representation is always a functioning tendency and tool in my thought. Ids always have a working subconscious presence. I strive to represent things graphically. If I represent an issue graphically, then I really have a handle on it.

Thus, this morning as I was thinking about the utter evil of certain groups of people, organizations, and systems prioritizing money over people and their well-being, ⁝⁘ for "prioritize" popped into my head. I had previously represented "priority" as left – to – right – order – assuming pre (before) [OL pri before] prior priority. But ⁝⁘ is better for the meaning I had in mind. On top of the stack! -- a matter of vertical arrangement, like "importance" I∃ .

⁝⁘ is, then, a better mental tool and an example of ids as graphic concepts sharpening and elevating thought. Better, clearer thoughts mean better results.
