

INTERESTING, APPROPRIATE

I think (I have many ids for "think": "A" A A A A A as befits such an important concept.

interest(ing) - raising and sustaining thought about something causing mental involvement (involve - involv) because of internal, intrinsic unknowns or puzzlements causing mental involvement because of external implications - possibilities led to.

I don't know if this distinction is worthwhile to make or not. I'll see how it proves out with use.

appropriate fit

(is here a generalized thing: quality characteristic aspect, etc.)

Ety mologically "appropriate" is from "prop" - own (or something like that)

"Fit" (fitting) seems more accurate (and fitting!) though.

(adjective) to me evokes the idea of a cell with a lock/key receptor