

What is science but a subject, an area of knowledge and study?

Well, it is a method of knowing based on observation.

With this version of "science" I combine subject, observation, and know.

I leave out the social verification thru duplication factor.

I strove to make a neologism for "discouraged" and pulled up from the deep well of my subconscious images.

Then, in an attempt to make a graphic opposite of "discouraged" I made , which seems to be a person rejoicing in the sunshine. I like it so much I think I'll leave it unverbilized.

