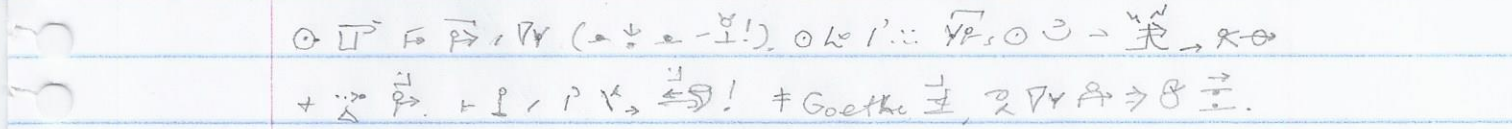
It Is So Easy To Get Distracted



My greed for action is great (at least at the moment). I have so many things I would like → violently work thru and get done. But one is so easily distracted! As Goethe wrote, "Wer grosses will, muß sich bahnen." (He who wills great things must limit himself).

NOTES: greed → want – a long hook reaching out – too much (over eat too full) full — wanting do much in a negative way, beyond fullness. great size indicator big (little) (great – very good, great, deserving honor) (pedestal) least less (more most – dot at top or bottom for superlative -est) at (place) at (toward) is ambiguous – could be low or limit) moment time indicator particle many few project – something big that you do noun cap. would like like dislike (smile frown) if – used to indicate conditional were (is – if I were king) violent sudden must (maybe too complex) get change continue completion get – gradually become get, acquire (to have) get – complete get understand (easy – downhill person (hard) distract pull focus. One's focus is pulled away. This id seems rich to me. At first wrote (mind) – the mind being pulled away.
